• What is Middle States accreditation?
• What is its purpose?
• What is the process?
• www.msche.org
What is it?

“Accreditation is the means of self-regulation and peer review adopted by the educational community. The accrediting process is intended to strengthen and sustain the quality and integrity of higher education, making it worthy of public confidence and minimizing the scope of external control.” (Characteristics of Excellence. 12th Edition, p. iv.)

Accountability, quality control, external quality review

Validation process through which institutions are measured against established standards to ensure quality.
What is the purpose?

1. Quality assurance – assures that institutions meet basic standards and work toward continuous institutional improvement

2. Provides access to federal (and, by extension, state) funds for student financial aid

3. Eases transfer of students from one institution to another
What is the process?

1. Self-study – characterized by broad-based participation, documenting how the institution meets accreditation standards. Shared internally and with members of a visiting team

2. Visit by a team of peers from other institutions, who validate the accuracy of the self-study through meetings with significant constituencies of the institution

3. Production of a team report, with a recommendation regarding accreditation (which is not shared with the institution); report contains “suggestions,” “recommendations” or “requirements”

4. Review of the team report by the institution

5. Response to the report by the institution, with a focus on correction of factual errors

6. Discussion of the self-study and team report by the agency at a meeting of its governing body

7. Decision regarding accreditation
What are the guides?

- Characteristics of Excellence - articulates the fourteen standards by which institutions are judged and sets expectations for documenting adherence to each
  - Seven standards address Institutional Context
  - Seven standards address Educational Effectiveness

- Self Study: Creating a Useful Process and Report

- Verification of Compliance with Accreditation-Relevant Federal Regulations - implemented in Spring 2014
Verification of Compliance

MSCHE, as a federally recognized accreditor, is obligated to ensure that its candidate and member institutions comply with accreditation-relevant federal regulations:

- Student identity verification in distance and correspondence education
- Transfer of credit policies and articulation agreements
- Title IV program responsibilities
- Assignment of credit hours.
Progress to Date

• Attendance at Self-Study Institute, November 2013 by Provost Bob Mangione and Dr. Julie Upton

• Self-study model selected: Comprehensive - i.e. examination of the institution within the context of all fourteen standards
  – Rationale:
    • St. John’s has not done a comprehensive self-study since 1985; the self-studies done in both 1995 and 2005 were on selected topics;
    • The arrival of a new President provides a unique opportunity for assessing the “state of the University” and will inform development of the next strategic plan.

• Steering Committee co-chairs chosen: Dr. Clover Hall, Dr. Vijaya Korlipara, and Dr. Julie Upton

• Standards grouped to facilitate study

• Steering Committee named; work groups identified; members invited
  - Co-chairs of each work group – 14
  - Institutional members – 13
  - Students – 2 UG; 1 Graduate
  - Board of Trustees representative

  – Questions that stimulate thinking about important topics affecting the University
  – Questions that require evaluation and judgment
  – Questions that are worth the effort it will take to answer them
  – Questions that connect standards and different dimensions of the University

• Due date for research questions from Working Groups - Aug 12, 2014
