International Law Day
February 12, 2015 | 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.
Admitted students interested in international legal practice are invited to join us for a day-long event focused on the opportunities available at St. John’s in this field. Sit in on international law courses, meet the international and comparative law faculty, and hear from our students who are involved in our international programming.

Schedule for the Day

Welcome and Coffee
9:00 a.m.
Room: 3-01H
Joshua M. Alter
Program Director, Transnational Programs
We will go through the day’s schedule and provide an overview of our Center for International and Comparative Law (CICL) and Office of Transnational Programs (OTP).

Lunch with Professor McGuinness and Professor Borgen
12:00 noon
Room: 3-45
Have lunch with Professor McGuinness and Professor Borgen, co-directors of the Center, and other admitted students interested in international law. Learn more about their areas of scholarship, the Center’s activities, and their careers before coming to St. John’s.
