ST. JOHN'S UNIVERSITY GRADUATE SCHOOLS

Since its founding in 1870, St. John's University in New York City has been responding to the educational demands of a growing, diverse marketplace, meeting the ever-changing academic needs of its students while preparing them for rewarding careers. With outstanding, award-winning faculty, modern programs, innovative curricula, and state-of-the-art facilities, the University remains on the cutting edge of contemporary theory and technology.

The graduate schools at St. John's offer more than 60 graduate degree and professional certificate programs in five acclaimed colleges, a School of Law, and an institute dedicated solely to the growing field of biotechnology. Earn your master's degree, doctoral degree, or professional certificate with options online, in New York, or in Rome.

FINANCIAL AID

St. John's offers transparency regarding available aid and other opportunities to offset the cost of graduate studies. Entering graduate students seeking financial assistance from any federal or institutional sources of funding should file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at fafsa.ed.gov using St. John's University's federal institution code 002823.

ASSISTANTSHIPS & FELLOWSHIPS

A limited number of Graduate Assistantships and University Fellowships are granted to various academic departments within each school and college of the University. Graduate Assistantships are also available in administrative departments.

MERIT SCHOLARSHIPS

A limited number of merit-based scholarships are available to first-year graduate students who enroll in specified St. John's graduate level master's degree programs. Students accepted to St. John's will be advised of any merit scholarship awards at the time of, or shortly after, acceptance.

YELLOW RIBBON PROGRAM

St. John's is a proud participant in the Yellow Ribbon Program, a Department of Veteran's Affairs program that provides financial assistance and academic support to post-9/11 veterans pursuing higher education.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY AND HEALTH SCIENCES

Since its founding in 1929, the College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences at St. John's University has trained scholars and practitioners who are respected for the quality of their contributions and compassion for those they serve. Advanced degree programs within the College rely on original research and discovery through rigorous scientific investigation in order to advance our understanding of the world.

The College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences announced the acquisition of the new Anatomage virtual dissection tables at the University's Queens campus and Dr. Andrew J. Bartilucci Center. The Anatomage is the world's first and most technologically advanced virtual dissection table for anatomy education, and it can effectively replace expensive and cumbersome cadaver laboratories.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

Founded in 1870, St. John's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is the cornerstone and oldest division of St. John's University. The College has always emphasized the liberal arts tradition, and the school's graduate division, the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, provides numerous programs leading to master's and doctoral degrees.

Faculty are world-class scholars and teachers. With their guidance, graduate students earn prestigious awards and fellowships. Students also hone their skills and obtain certification in their respective fields by working in the College's academic and clinical centers.

INSTITUTE FOR BIOTECHNOLOGY

Career opportunities abound in clinical labs, information technology, large pharmaceuticals, research labs and even small start-ups. You can prepare for these careers through the Master of Science Degree Program in Biological and Pharmaceutical Biotechnology at St. John's University. This interdisciplinary program is a joint effort of the College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences and St. John's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences—two acclaimed divisions of St. John's University.
