GENERAL NOTICE AND STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The following notice and statements should be carefully and thoroughly read to acquaint you with the rights and obligations created by the law, internal regulations and policies. St. John's University School of Law complies with the Family Education Rights and Privacy Acts of 1974, which is designed to protect your rights with regard to education records maintained by this institution. Consistent with the University's mission as a Catholic, Vincentian, and metropolitan institution of higher education, the University abides by all applicable federal, state and local laws which prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color, national or ethnic origin, age, sex (including sexual harassment), sexual orientation, marital status or disability in admitting students to its programs or in administering its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletics and other institutionally administered programs or activities generally made available to students at the University. In accordance with these laws, St. John's University also prohibits retaliation against anyone who has complained about discrimination or otherwise exercised rights guaranteed by these laws. The University continually strives to fulfill its educational goals by maintaining a fair, humane, responsible and non-discriminatory environment for all students and employees. All University policies, practices and procedures are administered in a manner, which preserves its rights and identity as a Catholic and Vincentian institution of higher education.
